

BROWSE

- Collections
- Disciplines
- Authors
- Journals

SEARCH

Enter search terms:

Advanced Search

Notify me via email or RSS

AUTHOR CORNER

Author FAQ

ABOUT SCHOLARWORKS

Theses & Dissertations

Benefits

Policies

Contact Us

LINKS

W&M Libraries

VIMS Hargis Library

W&M Law School Repository

Research Guides

Home > BOOK > 3

< Previous

BOOKS

The Men all Singing : the Story of Menhaden Fishing

John Frye

Download Full Text \(30.9 MB\)

Download

Share Feedback

INCLUDED IN

Aquaculture and Fisheries

Commons

SHARE

Document Type

Book

Department/Program

Virginia Institute of Marine Science

Publication Date

1978

Publisher

Donning

City

Norfolk/Virginia Beach

Edition

1

Abstract

The Men All Singing is a folk history as well as economic. It reaches back almost four centuries to tell of a little-known fishery that shares with cod the vista of our coastal life. Now the last decades of the twentieth century see great changes in all fisheries and our treatment of the waters that give so much of our food.

ISBN

0915442647

Keywords

Menhaden fisheries -- United States -- History

Creative Commons License

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution 3.0 License

Publication Statement

Gift of John and Harriet Frye to the Virginia Institute of Marine Science. Permission to digitize and share freely.

Recommended Citation

Frye, John, "The Men all Singing : the Story of Menhaden Fishing" (1978). Books. 3. <https://scholarworks.wm.edu/book/3>

This site uses cookies to deliver our services, improve performance, for analytics, and (if not signed in) for advertising. By using LibraryThing you acknowledge that you have read and understand our Terms of Service and Privacy Policy. Your use of the site and services is subject to these policies and terms. Hide this. Results from Google Books. To keep everyone synchronized, the men sang songs that were known as chanteys. The workers, away from home for days, weeks, or months at a time, came up with the words themselves. They were bluesy songs, carrying whiffs of homesickness and longing. Here's one chantey printed in Barbara Garrity-Blake's 1994 dissertation, The Fish Factory: I left my baby. Standing in the back door crying. She said, "Daddy, don't go Listen to recordings from "Raising the Story of Menhaden Fishing" at carolinacoastalvoices.com. This story was published on April 30, 2014. Bryan Mims. Mims is a reporter for WRAL News. He was the 2012 Television News Reporter of the Year. Related Articles. Flying Cloud Farm in Fairview.